Subject: Microsoft Settlement

This organization has done irreparable harm to the computational world through its past (and greatly continuing!) predatory policies. That such a light settlement has been proposed is a true travesty. My disgust with Microsoft has led me to the linux community and free software movement, the only places where Microsoft has been unable to wrap its slithery tentacles. Only a fool would allow them to continue the course of their present action, as each day they spread themselves in a new direction, looking to extend their monopoly.
